RAILWAY STRIKE THREATENS TO TIE UP ENGLISH LINES

ULTIMATUM IS PRESENTED TO GOVERNMENT REJECTING STAND-ARDIZATION OF FER.

CABINET IS CALLED

Noon, Friday, Is Hour Set For Walk-Out If Wage Demands Are Not Met.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Sept. 24.—Because of the situation created by the presentation to the government today of an ultimatum by the railway men in which a strike was threatened, a full meeting of the cabinet was called to be held this afternoon to consider the situation.

The executive body of the railroad men, it was declared by J. H. Thomas, the general secretary of the national union of railway men, has unanimously decided to declare a strike at noon, Friday, unless a settlement offer from the government is received by noon.

A general railway strike in Great Britain over the question of wages appears a real possibility today's development. The executive body of the railway men this morning sent an ultimatum to the government, rejecting a stand-ardization of freight rates which unless a favorable reply was received by noon Thursday the men would be ordered to commence a strike.

The ultimatum was the subject of a conference this morning between Sir Eric Geddes, the new minister of transportation, and Premier Lloyd-George. The belief was expressed shortly after noon that the government would issue a reply to the ultimatum which was delivered by J. H.
Thomas, general secretary of the national union of railway men, before the day.

Mr. Geddes replied to the ultimatum in the afternoon, declaring that the action of the men's executive body was unjust and that in order to meet their demands freight rates would have to be advanced probably 50 percent.

SKELTON ARMY CORPS PLAN IS PROPOSED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Sept. 24.—A new plan for reorganization of the regular army of the United States into a skelton army in each military department with the department commander also acting as commander of the skelton army has been approved by Secretary Baker and General March, chief of staff.

Officers who evolved the plan say it would provide for the rapid mobilization of six army corps, or of 10 if the insular departments were included. In the event of war, remaining units from the regular army to fill up the units to fighting strength.
All troops within a department would be placed under the command of the department commander, who would be organized into such provisional divisions or brigades as his numbers warranted.

The project is an alternative for the present war department proposal to hold over divisions intact to form a field army, but to organize the corps only when an emergency arose.

Hoover Holds Back Data on Packers' Profits

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Sept. 24.—Maximum profits for the five largest packers under military control, according to a report made by the War Reloading Administration, during the war were "unreasonably high," and from two and one quarter to three times as great as those of the other four packers, according to a report made to President Wilson by the federal trade commission on June 28, 1918, but withheld from the public at the time.
A copy of the report together with letters sent by Mr. Hoover and the commission to the president today by the commission in response to a resolution by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska.

In his letter to the president, dated July 5, 1918, Mr. Hoover said he did not believe "any useful purpose is served by public revelation of the departmental disbursements as to governmental policy."

Trotzky Says America is Field for Combat

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Stockholm, Sept. 24.—Leon Trotzky, the bolshevik minister of war and marine, speaking at the Petrograd recently, gave a detailed program of bolshevik military operations, among other things:
"It is not in Finland or Estonia that the immense world combat between capitalism and the proletariat in America and England, and above all in the east."

Reds Reported to Have Occupied Tomsk

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Sept. 24.—A bolshevik wire message received today from Moscow says that Red troops commanded by General Lukhovich are reported to have occupied Tomsk, 500 miles east of Omsk, the chief railroad junction of the Trans-Siberian railway line.

TROOPS QUELL OIL FIELD RIOTERS IN ANTI-CITY TUSSELE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Drumright, Okla., Sept. 24.—With state troops walking post in the streets of this city and others standing guard in most downtown buildings, the riotous behavior of the troops of the telephone operators has lessened in intensity. The troops arrived in Drumright last night and were ordered to guard the city before daybreak this morning.

DEMAND FOR BONUS BLANKS CONTINUES

Additional blanks on which to make application for the $30 educational bonus were given out today, Sept. 24, by the War Reloading Administration. Many of those applying plan to attend the state university, while others propose entering normal schools. That Janesville is proving no exception among other cities of the state is evident from registration and applications being made to install 400 cots in the university Y. M. C. A. to care for students.

The Gazette will be glad to cooperate with applicants in answering any questions which may arise, and in straightening out difficulties of any nature.

There are still 50 blanks on hand.
These may be secured at any time during the day at the Gazette editorial rooms.

Application for the educational bonus may be made at the high schools. Mr. Geddes advised that this morning. He has received the blanks which are to be filled out by those desiring to obtain the educational bonus.

Mr. Paul has received instructions from Edward E. Fitzgerald, secretary of the state board of education, that he give information to each person who wishes to be advised regarding the courses of study for the colleges and the university of the state.

Mr. Paul advised that he is interested in the matter at once, as the colleges are opening up for the fall term.

"Business at the postoffice has increased from 25 to 35 percent since the opening of the post office," said Mr. Paul. "The increased business has made it necessary for the postmaster to request that two new clerks be appointed. Substitutes are being placed until the appointments are made."

A bill will soon be introduced in congress asking for an appropriation for an addition to the post office.
The Chamber of Commerce, Mr.
Cunningham said would recommend that the addition be built and also that more facilities be added.

Lake City.

LABOR SLAVER IN CUMMINS RAIL BILL IS PROTESTED

Extension Of Walk-Out To Seamen and Trainmen To Be Considered.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Pittsburgh, Sept. 24.—Interest in the nation-wide steel strike centers today in the meeting here of the national committee for organizing the steel workers. William Z. Foster, secretary-treasurer of the committee declares the committee will not consider "peace plans" but will discuss the wisdom of extending the strike to include seamen on great lake cargo vessels and union train-men. The question of financing the strike will also come up according to the secretary the union is preparing for a long struggle.

The strike situation in the Pittsburgh district remains practically unchanged with the leaders issuing conflicting statements as to the number of men involved. The union men declare that thousands of workers are joining the ranks of the strikers daily. Employers say they are pleased with present conditions.

"We feel very much encouraged," was the word that came from the Carnegie Steel company offices a few blocks from the steel works. The company which is in operation at this time, it was given out, more departments were to be placed in operation today because of the reporting of additional men. The company had no early reports from the general superintendent at Homestead but information came to the offices from the main gate where men check in that more workers passed in on the day shift than yesterday.

At Braddock it was said more foreign born workers reported today.
Duquesne, which all along has been reported as working 100 percent of the time, was said to be still operating on the same basis.

According to officials of the West inghien Steel company over 90 percent of the more than 700 American born employees there were at work today while the foreign born were on duty.

One furnace in the open hearth department of the Allegheny Steel company was reported to have started today. Practically all the carpenters employed in the mill reported, it is said.

Foster Says Strike Spreads.
Mr. Foster reiterated that the strike was "spreading." He predicted that the Homestead plant would be closed down by the end of the week.
He said that the situation at the Chicago district the company is giving out information that the situation is a serious one.

DAYLIGHT DICE BAD, SAYS CHIEF; RAIDS FAST GAME

Four young men, strangers to the police and each other, were taken into custody by the police late yesterday afternoon when they were doing all that was humanly possible to convert that section of North River street near the Burns Building into a regular Monte Carlo. Dice were in evidence everywhere when the police arrived and the men's voices calling for "little Joe" and "Big Dick" could be distinctly heard.

The young men, S. Pageland, Frank Reuter, John Goldrick and William Nulan were caught in the raid and another man, whose name is not known, not only escaped but got away with most of the money which was being bet on the game.

Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey received word shortly after three o'clock that a dice game was in progress on North River street. He strode down toward the spot and while still out of sight of the participants, he could hear the men urging the bones to come "seven."

Convinced that the men shooting the dice were not youngsters, Chief Morrissey returned to the police station and formed a raiding squad composed of Officers Harvey Jones and Charles Weber. Chief Morrissey took personal charge of the party when they left the station.

Before arriving at the gaming center the officers separated in hopes of capturing the entire crowd. When one whoop the bluecoats descended on the game and grabbed all the men in sight. Despite their precaution, however, the man with most of the money got away.

"Daylight dice shooting is one of the worst things I ever heard of and you men must know that because Janesville is booming you can come up here from other cities and find the police too busy to interfere with your games," said Chief Morrissey.

"Men who make a practice of loafing and going off on a side street are not of much value to a community and as I said before, daylight dice shooting is just about as bad an offense as I can think of."

The men were dismissed when taken to the station and they all had different stories to tell. One told the chief that they had been drinking beer all morning and becoming tired of that pleasure they walked up North River street to look around before going to a matinee.

He insisted he did not leave the saloon with the intention of starting a dice game and he had no idea anyone in the crowd had any dice. When we got up near the factory the man who got away pulled out a pair of dice and suggested we have a little game," the man said.

"I don't see why you went away up there to shoot when the steps of the city hall were handy and offered a much better rolling service," Desk Sergeant Harvey Jones said.

When arraigned before Judge Maxfield in the municipal court John Goldrick convinced the judge that he had not participated in the game and as a result was dismissed. Pageland and Nulan drew fines of $10 and costs while Frank Ray was given a $15 fine.

Presbyterians Hold Hearing on Federation

At a meeting of the commission appointed at Muskegon by the Madison presbytery, held at the Y. M. C. A. Monday afternoon, testimony was taken on a formal complaint lodged against the session of the Presbyterian church with reference to federation of the Presbyterian with the Congregational church in this city, according to information given by Rev. J. A. Alderson.

The complaint was followed by a request on the part of the complainants that they be permitted to open the church building for their services. The commission took testimony and adjourned to take further deliberations in the near future at Madison.

10 MOULTING HENS LAY 10 EGGS A DAY

"Keep Hens Healthy and They'll Lay," Says Mr. Henry. Tells How.

"I placed 10 pullets by themselves in September, and fed them Don Sung. The third day they began to lay, increased from 3 to 9 a day. I have had Don Sung ever since and have laid 100 eggs. I have never had a sick hen, and am willing to make a bet with you that I can keep 10 hens healthy and get the eggs." J. A. Henry, Box 51, Alverton, Pa.

Mr. Henry's results show that if you give your hens the right help, they will be healthy during the moult, and will lay 10 eggs nothing to try. Accept this offer.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and gives you a good price, besides simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organ and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger, and more active in any weather. It helps her through the moult, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your drug, mail, or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burrell-Packer Co., 242 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

BEAUTY SECRETS!

Where she gets her good looks, her healthy skin, her pink cheeks, is known to everyone, because it is apparent that it is not due to cosmetics, paint and powder. But the true, permanent beauty comes from good health, and this good health is a woman's secret.

Health comes with good physical machinery and good spirits, an active digestion. A body free from pains and aches comes with a tonic known for over fifty years as the best "temperance" tonic and nerve-line for women—namely Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It can be obtained in any drug store in liquid or tablet form, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. Cleansing of the intestinal tract is important. Take castor oil or select a vegetable pill. Such a one is composed of May-apple, leaves of blue root of jalap, and made into tiny sugar-coated pellets, to be had at every drug store as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Vickers admitted going into the bath room at the Y. M. C. A. and taking the watch out of Sutherland's pocket while the man was bathing. He insisted that it was not a premeditated act and assured the judge it was the first time he was ever arrested.

WATER EXTENSIONS.

Mayor Welsh believes that no more water extensions should be made this year. Others interested in the city's financial problems and the program before us next year are of the same opinion. According to figures given out by the mayor, the water department will have spent in the neighborhood of $120,000 this year when the work under way is completed. Mains have been laid in those sections of the city where building is under way. This takes in the territory occupied by the housing corporation and the Matteson and Lindstrom company, as well as that in scattered areas.

Some property owners have protested because they have not been able to get extensions at this time. When it is taken into consideration that mains have had to be laid to the new houses that have sprung up all over the city on almost a moment's notice, the job has been huge. It will be necessary to lay mains to vacant property in the future, but to do so this fall does not appear to be good policy.

The water department at the present time has $15,000 in current bills outstanding. There is about $8,000 on hand to meet them. These bills are exclusive of the payroll. With rentals coming in October 1, and revenue from special assessments which could be paid, the current expenses could be met.

The city has issued $60,000 in second mortgage bonds on the water plant. It has $15,000 available in addition to this. But it is the belief of Mayor Welsh that this $15,000 should be held in reserve until next spring and be added to the fund which will have to be raised to meet the expenses of the 1920 program.

Many property owners who have not taken advantage of the opportunity to put city water into their houses in years past, and who have relied upon wells to furnish their supply, are now clamoring for service. It is the feeling of most city officials and others that inasmuch as these people have been able to get along for years without city water, they can continue to do so until next spring, at least, and not retard the movement to provide homes for people arriving in Janesville every day. The new houses must have water.

HENRY AND HAMMONS.

Men like to think of Patrick Henry as a real, red-blooded American. Zealous and warm-blooded, he was quick to warn George III that the colonies would not stand tyranny. His famous speech, in which he declared that regardless of opinions of others he would take liberty or death, will always remain a classic, a bright spot on history's page.

We have numbers of men in political life with similar soul-inspiring qualities, and they too have had the good fortune to be popular, and to have troops of devoted followers. It is ever so much more interesting to go along with a man of vivid, bubbling personality, who will call upon heaven in ringing tones to smite the base culprits who would surrender their country's honor, than it is to get excited over a calm, judicial, deep-thinking individual who uses quieter and less appealing method.

The present counter-parts of Patrick Henry are Senators Johnson and Borah. If you know them you cannot help liking them, they are so magnetic, so vivid in personality. And they are just as concerned today about our liberties and our sovereign rights as Patrick Henry was some years back.

It is quite a bit more interesting to hear them talk than it is to listen to men of the Alexander Hamilton type. Somehow their speeches sound more stingingly patriotic.

Yet we have to remember that it was Patrick Henry who fought the new constitution of the United States as a menace to liberty, and men of the Hamilton type who brought about its adoption and made it work.

BOSTON EFFICIENCY.

We read a truly remarkable statement in regard to the efficiency of the Massachusetts state troops in Boston when they took hold following the decision of most of the police to desert their posts.

After order had been restored and the thugs and crooks had been taught who was boss, daily violations of the law were reduced to only seven percent of normal.

Think of that! For fourteen infractions in normal times under police rule, there was only one under the regime of the vigilant lads in khaki.

This whole Boston incident is mighty consoling to lovers of order and a republican form of government, as opposed to terrorism. Evidently the Hansons and Coolidges are plentiful enough to protest the peaceful majority against the mad minorities, and as for the guardsmen, they seem to be just as plucky and capable as their brothers who smashed the German lines in France.

We like to believe that union workers in Boston are glad that the troops put such a quick finish to lawlessness. They do not like sneak thieves and purse-snatchers any more than do the rest of us.

A Chicago mental defective has been sentenced to be hanged for killing a little girl. Although a majority of the people of this country do not favor capital punishment, if the hanging of this man will serve in any way to instill fear in the hearts of these human vultures that molest innocent children, that majority will put the seal of approval upon the sentence. These so-called morons should be segregated as soon as they are discovered so that they may be prevented from committing offenses.

Barron County has another national record. With 56 pure-bred herds being tested for accredited herds, that county has the largest number under test of any county in the United States. Of the 700 cattle tested up to August 1, only eight reacted, and these were cattle which had been shipped in without retest.

With the cool weather of the last few days, it is noticeable that many of our citizens are particularly friendly with the coal men, whom they paid little attention to the last few months.

Now an attempt is going to be made by an astronomer and an aviator to communicate with the planet Mars. We were of the opinion that the world was attempting to get rid of all Martian associations.

A governor of Zamboanga, Philippine Islands, will attend the University of Wisconsin this year. Wisconsin's fame is not confined to this country.

THE GOOD LITTLE BOY.

Once there was a boy who never Tore his clothes, or hardly ever,
Never made his sister mad,
Never whipped her, or beat her,
Never scolded by his Ma,
Never frowned at his Pa,
Always fit for folks to see,
Always good as good could be.

This good little boy from Heaven,
So I'm told, was only seven.
Yet he never shed real tears.
When his mother scrubbed his ears,
An' at times when he was dressed
For a party, in his best,
He was careful of his shirt
Not to get it smeared with dirt.

Used to study late at night,
Learned how to read an' write;
When he played a baseball game,
Right away he always came
When his mother called him in.
An' he never made a din
But was quiet as a mouse
When they'd company in the house.

Liked to wash his hands an' face,
Liked to work around the place;
Never, when he'd tired of play,
Left his wagon in the way
Or his bat an' ball around—
Put 'em where they could be found;
An' that good boy married Ma,
An' today he is my Pa.

More Homes and Lower Prices

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The natural resources of this country, including its farm lands, its mineral lands, and its forests, produce the most valuable products at a lower cost than they do at present, and they must also furnish more and better homes for Americans.

These are the two chief conclusions in a report which has been made to the secretary of labor by Kenton McKaye, an expert in the secretary's office. The report is a most unusual and interesting document. McKaye is a trained forester, and he attacks the problems presented by the high cost of living and by industrial unrest from the standpoint of an engineer and field man rather than that of a politician or other variety of an arm chair reformer.

McKaye spent a large part of his time for three years in preparing this report, and much of that time he was out in the woods and in the swamp and cut-over lands that might be made into farms. He made his plans for increased production and better living conditions on the ground, not in a room. Having worked out a method by which forest lands could be made to yield timber, and, at the same time, furnish permanent homes for men and women at the same time, he went to the Pacific northwest, selected a suitable area of forest land, made a map of it, estimated the amount of timber present, and worked out a plan for the utilization of that particular piece of timber land which overlooked no detail.

Maps Out Lands.
In the same way he made plans, with every road and building, for the working of combination agricultural and timber lands. One of his plans was so convincing to President Wilson and his cabinet that during the war McKaye was given $100,000 out of the president's private fund wherewith to establish one of his forest communities and increase the timber production which was then greatly needed. Mr. McKaye was just setting about the work when the armistice was signed, and the timber industry, which had been producing and selling, and the presidential appropriation was canceled. This the ending of the war killed a most interesting experiment.

McKaye says in effect (though not in these words) that bounding timberland on one side and a police problem on the other will never solve the cost of living problem. He argues quite cogently that you must go to the source of your living if you want to make it more easily. The source of your living is the land—using land in the larger sense to include farms, forests, and mineral lands. The first thing to examine is the "extensive industries," by which the things we need are taken out of the earth. These include farming, mining and lumbering. Until these three great industries have been put upon a sound basis the problem of the high cost of living cannot be solved. But the extensive industries are of primary importance. It is with these that the report deals, especially with farming and lumbering.

Idle 20 Percent of Time.
The report states, in the first place, that the average worker in this country is idle 20 percent of the time, and that only 50 percent of our natural resources are in use. These facts show that we are not bringing men and the land together to the best advantage.

McKaye says this is due to the fact that the land, under present conditions, does not offer men the things they need—good livings and good homes. That is one reason why the soldiers are not going back to the land, but are crowding into the cities. The manufacturing industries offer a bad home to the soldier, and the soldier home to the manufacturing industries. If a man gets a job in a factory he goes to work at a bench and the machine industry is already equipped. He is assured of a living wage and of certain desirable working conditions. His place is reasonably permanent. He has a man and a house, ready equipped, where he can live and have a wife and children. He will be in a community. He will enjoy a social life, his children will have access to schools and libraries. The movies and baseball park are within reach of his legs and of his pocketbook.

Life Not Ideal.
It is not meant to argue that the factory worker's life is ideal. He may be getting less than his share of what the factory produces, and the labor advocates claim, and he certainly does not have a fair share in the control of the industry of which he is a part. He is subject to periods of idleness and resultant poverty, for which he is not to blame, and for which there is no good excuse.

But at least he can lead a normal human existence. Compare his lot with that of a man who goes into the extensive industry of lumbering. This man goes into the woods in the winter, where he lives in a bunk house with a lot of other men, and no women. His condition has been described before—the fifth, the vermin, the brutality that always results when men are crowded together. This is the worst side of the picture. At best the man should have a clean bed and good meals. But he does not have a home. He is sometimes a hobo and always a malcontent. He is a looking and formidable factor in the going is done as he demonstrated by holding up timber production during the war.

And at the same time, he is wasting the natural resources upon which a wilderness of camps and branches, and does not yield any more timber for perhaps a century, if ever.

Forest Lands Made Lasting.
But if the cutting is done scientifically, taking only the old and mature timber, an area of forest land may be made to produce indefinitely. This would be made the home of a community—in fact of two of them, one which will center about the saw mill, while the other will live in the forest itself and cut the timber.

These two communities would have to move once in every few years, but the renewals would follow a regular rotation. Homes, schools, churches and community centers could be established. The land would not only produce more timber, but would give more people homes and jobs.

Such colonies could easily be established on our national forests, which are owned by the government. McKaye would like to see those communities of workers.

Mr. McKaye does not study the mining industry in detail, but indicates that the same principles would apply there. The great unused mineral lands of the west he would use as the sites for mining communities, which would at once consume the resources and furnish permanent homes for the miners.

To farming he applies his principles in detail, and indicates that the same principles would apply there. The great unused mineral lands of the west he would use as the sites for mining communities, which would at once consume the resources and furnish permanent homes for the miners.

Mr. McKaye makes a detailed study of 50 farms in the northwest. He lays down the principle that, after he has paid for the land, he must pay for the mortgage, and he must pay for the overhead expenses, the farmer should have enough profit left to equal a good wage. Otherwise, he says, he is not a farmer, but a tenant.

Of course, the farmer gets some food from his farm, and he has no rent to pay. He cannot expect to receive as much cash as the city worker. But the average wage of the 50 farms was $44 a year, while nearly half of them actually lost money on their operations.

BUSTLETON.

Within the limits of the city of Philadelphia, yet separate from the municipality proper, is the little village of Bustleton. Unlike its name, Bustleton is a sleepy community, peopled mostly by retired farmers. Bustleton is made up of historic lore. Old Bill Tyler's Union hotel is a relic of the days when British and colonial troops overran the country. One sleeping chamber in the ancient inn contains a great four poster bed in which, so the historians of the village say, once slept "Mad Anthony" Wayne.

Stories of midnight raids by British cavalry patrols, duels fought between the young bloods of the Quaker City and the sons of the inn, and ghosts of colonial soldiers stalking through the long halls of the structure are told with great gusto by Bill Tyler. The Union hotel has been handed down from father to son in the Tyler family for nearly two centuries.

But there is one time in the year when Bustleton really bustles. That is in the month of September, when the mushroom season opens. At sunset dozens of men in straw hats and buckskin suits, armed with buckets and baskets, for the fertile fields in and around Bustleton yield many bushels of mushrooms, which are sold at the various markets in Philadelphia.

Marketing Hearings to Open This Week; Exams Announced

Madison, Sept. 24.—The state division of agriculture will hold its first marketing hearings this week. They will be held at Rhineclanville, Thursday, Sept. 25; Stevens Point, Friday, Sept. 26; Oshkosh, Saturday, Sept. 27; and Janesville, Sunday, Sept. 28. The hearings will be preliminary to the establishment of legal standards for grades of potatoes in Wisconsin.

Director Edward Nordman of the division anticipates many similar problems to be met during the fall, and problems relating to the price of potatoes, production of farm products, standards for products and receipts, and methods of competition employed in their distribution.

The state civil service commission will conduct examinations October 4, to fill four positions in the market division, namely: assistant director, assistant in charge of fruits and vegetables, assistant in charge of the market news service, and legal assistant.

COAL MINERS' STRIKE THREATENS IF WAGE SCALE IS NOT MET

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cleveland, Sept. 24.—The report of the scale committee embodying the proposed demands of the United Mine Workers of America, was presented to the convention Tuesday by Frank Farrington of Illinois, chairman of the committee. It includes the anticipated demands for a flat 60 percent increase in wages, applicable to all classifications of day labor and to all tonnage, yardage and kind work rates throughout the central competitive district of Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and western Pennsylvania, the six hour day from bank to bank, five days per week with time and a half for overtime, and double time for all work on Sundays and holidays, and a weekly payday.

The international officers are instructed to call a general strike of all bituminous miners and mine workers in the United States November 1 unless a satisfactory agreement is reached by that time.

No agreement reached in the joint wage scale conference at Buffalo, N. Y., Wednesday, after the unionists had submitted for ratification to the convention which is to be reconvened for this purpose in Indianapolis.

The report demands that all double shift work be abolished except such as may be necessary for ventilating purposes and for a period of two years in all bituminous districts. Agreements negotiating for outlying districts shall be retroactive and become effective on the date upon which the agreement for the central competitive field, upon which they are based, becomes effective.

ALLIES CONCERNED OVER RUSS WARFARE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Tuesday, Sept. 23.—The attempt by the bolsheviks to negotiate peace with Esthonia and Latvia and indications that the Poles and the forces of General Denekine, the anti bolshevik leader in South Russia, soon may establish communication and coordinate their efforts in fighting the bolsheviks in the Ukraine, have revived interest in the Russian situation among the peace conference delegates.

The refusal of the German general Von De Goltz to obey the orders issued by Esthonia and Latvia to use the Baltic provinces of Russia and Germany's declaration that she cannot be responsible for his movements leaves the conference for the moment in a helpless position, as there is no disposition to ask the Poles who already are engaged to extend the conference for the loss of our father.

Curtains for a Girl's Own Room
By Millie Price Cook

Study your bedroom. Choose materials for curtains that will harmonize with the wall paper and rug. Do not use flowered or figured cloth unless the wall is of a pale color. Flowered materials often fade. White is always suitable, and is easily laundered. Scrim, dotted swiss, lawn and hair-line checks, net or plain muslin will be pretty.

For Girls to Make

For Girls to Make

Measure your window from two inches above the top of the glass to one inch below the bottom of the sill. To this add 3 1/2 inches for heading and seam at bottom. Allow an extra inch for each yard of length, for shrinkage.

Unless the window is unusually wide, buy two strips of 27 or 30-inch material, each measured as stated above.

Base and measure carefully. It is the only way to avoid mistakes. Allow 1 1/2 inch seam when turning them. Base and stitch 3-inch hem for the outside length of piece, and 2-inch hem at bottom of strips. Use selvage edges on the outside lengths.

Run extra stitching one inch above top hem and put the curtain rod through the inch space made by the two stitchings. This will leave an attractive 2-inch heading at the top. The thin extension brass rods, which cost 15c are the best to use.

IF YOU DESIRE FANCY CURTAINS you may: (1) Make a 4-inch border of contrasting material to match the decorations of the room; (2) stitch a one-inch bias strip of contrasting material over the stitchings of the hem; (3) Use colored running stitch along hems; (4) Stencil borders before turning up hems.

If your window is short and desires to give the appearance of greater length, make your curtains a foot longer. Striped material will also give the effect of length.

How to Make Arrows
By Grant M. Hyde

What makes a rifle bullet go so straight? The "rifling" or spiral grooves inside the barrel. This gives the bullet a whirling motion that keeps it in a straight line. Fig. 1 shows how to make the feathers do the same thing for an arrow.

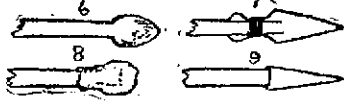

Make a big bunch of arrows at the same time. It is easier. There are three steps in the work: (1) making the shaft; (2) putting on the feathers; (3) fixing the head.

MAKE THE SHAFT straight, using tough straight-grained wood. It should be about two feet long and from 1/4 to 3/8 inch in diameter. Shape it with either knife or plane. Notch as shown above.

FEATHERS Make some arrows with two feathers (Fig. 2) and some with three (Fig. 4). Take a good big turkey or goose wing feather and cut the feather part off the quill. Trim with scissors to the proper shape. It does not need to be very big. Feathers

Notch for Binding Feathers

Side View

Top View (Note Slant of Feathers)

shown in Fig. 2 are about 1 1/2 inches long and 3/8 inch wide. Bind them on with strong thin thread at each end. Put a little glue under the feathers and they will never come off. It is more difficult to put on these feathers at once, especially when they are to be "fletched". Be careful to give them all a uniform, very gradual slant. Don't overdo it.

HEAD Four different arrow heads are shown above. Fig. 5 is made of the same wood as the arrow. Hold it in a vise a minute and then whittle away the chanted part. The wood immediately underneath is hardened by the fire. Fig. 6 is another blunt head, made by notching the end of the shaft, and dipping it in melted lead. Fig. 7 looks like an Indian arrow head. It is clipped off a piece of tin. Be careful in using it. It is dangerous. Fig. 8 shows another sharp point made by using a piece of tin into a conical shape.

WOODCRAFT

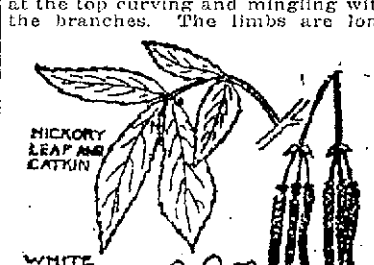

HARD WOOD FOR OUT-DOOR FIRES

By Adella Bell Beare

HICKORY is a hard wood. It makes the best fire, burns long and leaves a bed of hot coals that last for hours. Of course you know hickory tree when the nuts are on it, but can you identify one without them?

The skeleton of the shag bark hickory shows a trunk forked into two or more divisions with irregular branches bent in several directions. Some branches grow startlingly upward, some at right angles from the trunk, while others start up, then make a deep curve downward. The bark is rugged and unpeeling, the wood strong and tough. From five to seven leaflets grow on one stem. They are long, rather narrow, have saw-tooth edges and tapering tips. The blossoms are katkins, light green, slender, and growing in trees.

The wood of the WHITE OAK is hard and strong and comes next to hickory as good fire wood. The tree is large and spreading, with a top curving and mingling with the branches. The limbs are long and strong. The branches gnarled and twisted; the lower limbs grow at right angles to the trunk. The bark is light gray and the acorns fit in rough, shallow cups. The leaves have rounded lobes.

SWEET BIRCH (Sweet birch) is also a hard wood that makes good fires. It is certainly a beautiful tree, summer and winter. You will know it by its bark which closely resembles that of a cherry tree. It is dark on the trunk, golden brown and glossy on the slender stems. The young trees have smooth trunks but on older ones the bark is split lengthwise as if slashed with a knife. The leaves are oval, wide at the bottom with pointed tips and have straight ribs. The flowers are katkins and there is a little, scaly fruit the shape of a nut.

Other hard woods that burn well are ironwood, dogwood, locust and mulberry.

ADVENTURES THAT MADE AN AMERICAN

"I Like the Campfire Squaws"

By H. S. Alexander

Hunting Eye heard a scream. He ran down the bank of the river. A girl was struggling in the water. He dived in swim to her and brought her to shore. By that time many more girls were on the bank. Hunting Eye was surprised to see that although white, they wore clothes like the girls of his tribe.

The girls were amazed to see the athletic young Indian who swam so swiftly and powerfully. They told him that he must go with them to the Guardian of the Fire.

"What fire?" asked Hunting Eye. "Oh, we are Campfire Girls. The girl you have just rescued is the head of the Campfire."

Soon they came to the camp. The Guardian thanked Hunting Eye. The girls collected wood, made a roaring fire, and while Hunting Eye's wet clothes were drying, they told him all about the Campfire Girls.

"All Campfire Girls," they said, "begin at Woodcrafters. They learn about health, home-craft, nature lore, camp—and hand-craft, business and patriotism." Their watchword is "We'll win."

"What does 'We'll win' mean?" asked Hunting Eye.

"It means Work, Health, Love; it is the first two letters of each word. If the Woodgatherer works, she can become a Firemaker, but first she must know how to cook a meal, how to tie useful knots, and what to do when someone's clothing catches on fire, or when someone is drowning, or faints, or has an open cut, or a frost-bitten foot. She must know the words of 'America'."

"What is 'America'?"

"The girls sang it for him. 'I like the song,' he said. Then they filled his pouch with good things to eat, and as Hunting Eye started out again he thought, 'I like the Campfire squaws.'"

Say! When Do We Eat?

You'll Find the Fellows Who Have Learned to Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Right on the Job

"For Work, Play or Road Dyspepsia or indigestion may follow a glass of milk as easily as a plate of bacon and eggs. Today you may eat heartily and feel fine. Tomorrow you may bolt a glass of milk and two crackers and get a stomach full of gas, sour risings, biliousness, a feeling of bloated heaviness and other distress. Indigestion is a fault from infancy to old age, no matter what you eat, so the thing to consider is how you may eat freely, get away with it fine and not suffer any of those distresses of indigestion. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have solved this problem, for a host of people.

In fact, they are so well known that many physicians prescribe them for indigestion, dyspepsia and other digestive disorders. They contain ingredients which act with an all-time effect, just as the stomach does in perfect health. Thus you may eat those foods you may have denied yourself, for fear of distress. Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store, and you will be no thought of trouble after eating. Try this harmless plan of enjoying life.

ANIMAL STORIES FOR CHILDREN ARE AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Everything that children want to know about animals, other domesticated or wild, can be found in the books on animal life which have been placed on the shelves of the children's room at the public library.

Miss Emily Moore, the children's librarian, has prepared a short resume of a few of the best animal books.

"Familiarity of Wild Animals," by Bostock, tells how animals are trained for circus performances, what care they receive, their habits and so forth.

The strange story of the life of a wolf and how, through kindness he became a faithful and trusted friend of man is told in "Wolf, the Storm Leader," by Caldwell.

The animal which above all others is man's friend and helper is the dog. Many stories have been written of his bravery and intelligence. Just a few of them are: "Stories of Brave Dogs," Carter; "Guilford the Great," Reilly; "Mossy," by S. J. Saunders; "Pierrot, Dog of Belgium," Dyer; "Dog of Flanders," Rame.

Other domestic animals which up to the last few years had always been one of man's helpers is the horse. "Lady Lee," Eassey; "Horse Fair," Eassey; and "Black Beauty," Sewell are some of the stories written about the horse.

Then there are books about the animals who live in the woods and streams. "Shaggycoat," by the blind Clarence Hawkes, is the biography of a beaver. "The Elephant," by Herbert and "The Ivory King," by Eassey are some of the stories of the life of the elephant.

"Bear Stories," by Carter; "True Bear Stories," by Miller; "Krag and Johnny Bear," and "Gorilla," by Eassey, by Seton Thompson are stories about the bear.

Seton Thompson has written other books on animal life, such as "Wild Animals," "Wild Animal Ways," and others.

Then there are Kipling's fascinating stories of the jungle and Mowgli as told in the "Jungle Book" and the "Second Jungle Book." Have you ever wondered how the camel got his hump or how the giraffe got his spots? Kipling tells these stories and others in his "Just So Stories."

The life of a reindeer is told in the "King of the Fleece," "Hickory," "Wilderness Ways," by Long tells of the lives of the animals in woods and fields. Mr. Long has also written a book about the things that all animals must know and has called it "Wood Folks at School."

For those who are interested in cats there are "Angora," by Cheever, "Cat Stories," by Carter and others.

The squirrel also has had stories written about him. "The Squirrel," by Morley is the story of a little mountain squirrel who lived on Mount Mitchell.

Another instructive and useful book about animals is "The Pot Book," by Comstock. This book gives the habits of all animals that we have for pets, and tells how to feed and care for them.

Many other books about animals and their ways can be found in the children's room of the public library.

BOYS' TENNIS MEET BEGINS TOMORROW

Tomorrow has been decided upon as the opening day of the boys' tennis tournament on the Y. M. C. A. courts. Drawings for the first round were announced today by Physical Director W. P. Craig as follows:

Newman vs. Austin.
Blek vs. Schmidley.
Smith vs. Burpee.
Tall-bye.
Palmer vs. Harvey.
Cowley vs. ...

The boys were drawn to allow for two more entries. The boys' doubles tournament will begin as soon as the singles championship has been determined. The teams to be picked by Mr. Craig.

Two days of sunshine have dried out the courts so that they are now in the best condition that they have been this year. It is hoped that entrants in the men's tournament will take advantage of the excellent condition of the courts to finish play in the second round immediately. It is planned to play off the six remaining matches in the second circuit this week.

GRINDING THE TEETH

The habit of grinding the teeth in sleep seldom annoys the owner of the teeth unless it happens to be a dentist and the teeth are not all paid for, but it peevish performance frequently annoys the person who has to hear it. The only person who likes to hear it is Sairey, for it gives her a rare opportunity to thrust a diagnosis upon the family.

Yes, and I'll give you a sure cure—I don't tell this to most folks, it is a secret my grandfather got from an old Indian chief. You mix—

Worms are queer animals. They seem to exist when they really do not in the alimentary tract, for the sole purpose of confounding honest doctors and vindicating old wives of the neighborhood. A gossip can see the worms 40 times, miss 39 times and still retain standing with credulous folk. And finally one measly little pale round worm four or five inches long puts in an appearance just as the family doctor is telling for the fortieth time how absurd Sairey's notion is, and goes right to work and finds the worms.

The score stands 39 to 1 against Mrs. Camp, but she wins in a twink. Ascaris lumbricoides, otherwise the common round worm of man and some lower animals, is an inveterate, the most contemptible, not accepting Acarus scabiei, alias the itch mite, which, as most people know, is a pretty low-down, no-account insect.

But let the worms go—they won't do any harm.

It is regrettable that I have conducted this subject of grinding the teeth in sleep with that of worms. I suppose many readers will vaguely recall that I have connected them and quite forgot that I do positively declare that the presence of worms in the intestinal canal never accounts for the habit of grinding the teeth.

In sleep. Mind, I do not deny that once in a thousand times or so the person who grinds the teeth turns out to be a host of some pesky worm or other. I merely deny that the worm causes the trouble we are discussing. Just as many individuals who never grind their teeth at all or present any symptoms whatsoever harbor worms. Therefore in time of symptoms all alleged worm signs fall unless you are very ignorant and very credulous indeed. Nine times out of ten when worms are present in considerable numbers they cause no disturbance of health at any time; and in the rare event that some disturbance of health is produced by worms in the intestine, the symptoms practically never conform to the classic picture painted by the neighborhood Jane.

A temporary irritation, as from a gumball or a sensitive root, may start the habit of grinding the teeth in sleep, and then the habit persists long after the irritation has been removed.

One with this habit should resort to suggestion. Before going to sleep make a firm resolve not to grind to-night, keep thinking along that line, let it be your last waking determination. Persists with this determination for three weeks and you will break the habit and save the teeth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Good Faith. I am signing this with my full name and address, not for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Should you print any part of it please use only my initials. (F. M. J.)

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

To Preserve Mushrooms—To each quart of mushrooms allow three ounces of butter, pepper and salt to taste, and the juice of one lemon. Peel the mushrooms, put them in cold water with little lemon juice, then take them out, dry carefully with a cloth, put in a stewpan. When it is melted add the mushrooms, lemon juice and seasoning. Draw them down over a slow fire and let them remain until their liquor is boiled away and they have become quite dry, but not to stick to the bottom of the kettle. When done put in small pots and pour over them clarified butter. Let cool, cover with oiled paper. When wanted for use, put all in a pan, reheat, strain the butter from them and they are ready for use.

A second way to can them: Wash good, cut roots off, put in very little water to steam them, boil some time—say 20 minutes. Put one-fourth teaspoon of cayenne pepper in a bottle, add a little salt and a little sugar. Crisp Sweet Pickles—One gallon strong cider vinegar, one large tablespoon whole cloves, one large tablespoon whole allspice, one large tablespoon mustard seeds, one large tablespoon pulverized alum, one-half pint of salt, one teaspoon of saffron.

Boil all together and let cool, then put in crock. Wash pickles carefully and pack in the crock. When crock is full, put on weight and tie up.

It takes about two and one-half gallons of vinegar for a five-gallon crock.

Cold Tomato Catsup—One peck of ripe tomatoes (chopped), four green mangoes (chopped), two cups chopped onions, two cups chopped celery, three-fourths cup of white mustard seed, three cups of white sugar, one-half cup of salt, two teaspoons of cayenne pepper, one-half cup of vinegar.

Do not cook. Put in airtight bottles of jars.

Best Relish—Cook beets till tender, then grind them in food grinder. One quart of beets (ground), add one quart of cabbage (ground), add one glass of horseradish, one tablespoon salt, one tablespoon pepper, two cups sugar. Then cover with vinegar. If vinegar is too strong dilute with water.

The relish requires no cooking and will keep for the winter. Very good to serve with meats.

Chow-Chow—Two large bunches celery, eight large cucumbers, six onions medium size, one cauliflower, one red pepper, three mangoes, one-half peck green tomatoes.

Chop this up very fine, put in salt brine over night. Squeeze out in the morning.

Take two cups brown sugar, one tablespoon tansy, one cup vinegar. Put in a bowl a little flour, add one-half teaspoon mustard. Mix with vinegar, add to above. Let it come to a boil.

Truck Line Busy. A successful motor line is now doing business between Green Bay and Escanaba. A fleet of six big trucks is kept busy between the two terminals.

VELVET, TAFFETA AND FUR COMBINE IN SMART FROCK

By ELOISE.

Just when one begins to think that there is nothing new under the sun and that all the latest fashions are old-fashioned and old-fashioned are going around, a new idea comes along. Here, we say, is something different at least, and even if it is rather extreme it will be a relief for those women who always want something just a bit extraordinary.

It is a strange and altogether pleasing combination of royal blue velvet, black taffeta, plaid and seal-skin fur. The velvet fashions a plain frock with dolman-like sleeves, a vestee and reverses of the same material, and the short tight skirt with a unique apron tied in the front.

This tunic is edged with wide plaiding of black taffeta, making a very feminine feature. The choker collar and belt are trimmed with seal-skin. Hat to match trimmed with shingles and foliage completes the outfit, which is appropriate for afternoon, street and restaurant wear.

FATEFUL BIRTHDAY. London—Here's a curious coincidence over the fatal figure 13. Ernest Benjamin Woods, drowned while bathing, was one of a Sunday school party of 13, all the ages 13 and 13 policemen took care of the body.

COMMONS POST OFFICE. London—The House of Commons has a little postoffice all its own. More than 2,500,000 postal packets, number 13 and 13 policemen took care of the body.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 20 years old. My father is dead and I have a step-father. My mother is not like other mothers. She does not love me as other mothers treat their daughters.

My step-father and my mother will not let me go anywhere, or have any young friends, boys or girls. A girl friend comes my mother treats her so coldly that it makes her feel badly. Then when the girl leaves she fusses because she was here. Very seldom do they let me have a boy friend.

If a boy does come, they fuss about it. Only yesterday a boy came to see me. This morning my mother made me cry about it. I can never go to a party or other places like other girls. I went to a party once and he came. It was 11 o'clock my mother fussed about it. I did not think 11 o'clock was so late to leave a party. Do you think so?

I don't know whom to blame more, my mother or my step-father. They are both so much alike in their ways. Sometimes my mother treats me so mean that I don't believe she loves me. On several occasions she has told me that she hated me.

I have one half-sister who is 10 years old. They make a pet of her. I am not of a nature like my mother's. I am kind hearted and like everybody, and especially like me. My mother is cold and distant and seems to like no one, and therefore, very few people like her.

Really I do not know how to advise me what to do.

I do not like to advise girls to leave home, because they need the protection of their homes. I do think, however, that it would be better for you to find some place where you can be happier. If you try, you may be able to get a room with some good family where they will take an interest in you and give you what you need.

Do you think the man I love cares for me? I know I will never be happy with other men. If he marries some one else I will love the girl for his sake. Please give me your advice. Sincerely, BLUE EYES.

It is so hard to speculate whether or not the young man still cares for you. You lost him in a fit of temper and now you make the best of it. Tell him that you can't see him and give up hope that he will come back. If he cared very much he would be very miserable to hide the fact from you. He would tell you he was sorry and soon if you will give up the past and live for the present and future.

SIDE TALKS

IN THE MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT.

I don't suppose there is an adult living in the civilized part of the globe (I don't know whether uncivilized people worry or not) who hasn't lain awake in the night trying to decide how to face some situation or to solve some problem.

And I don't suppose there is a person in the same portion of the earth's surface who doesn't know perfectly well what a doubly foolish thing that is to do.

The sure road to wakefulness is to say doubly because in the first place, letting one's mind dwell on problems is the surest road to prolonged wakefulness at a time when one should be sleeping.

And secondly, because all problems and difficult situations take an entirely different face in the middle of the night.

It is really amusing, if one can detach himself and see in that light, to contemplate the way troubles and difficulties seem to swell up in the darkness.

You Feel Hemmed In on All Sides.

Let's say you have an unusual amount of work to get through in the coming week, before you go on your vacation. You wake up in the night and unwisely permit your mind to consider on just what days you are going to attack the various jobs that that you can't possibly get that work done. And yet you can't put off your vacation. You are going with the C's, and your ticket is bought. What can you do then? You feel hemmed in on all sides. You begin to feel sick and all over and toss about on the bed and pound your pillow.

When, in the course of human events, it comes time to do that work you will doubtless do it, and when it comes time to take your vacation you will take it—no, if it isn't possible, you will find means to put it off. But your night-time self sees only a wall of impossibilities which it is desperately, and with a ridiculous waste of energy, trying to climb.

Twice as hard to Worry at Night. It is very hard to stop one's mind once it gets started on such a course. The wise person takes the wheel early and after he has had one or two such experiences and realized in the morning the futility of them, he makes a resolve never to let his mind take one step in this direction of plans or problems in the middle of the night.

For he knows it is bad enough to worry in the daytime, but doubly so to worry at night.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

It has been said that it is easy to get love, but hard to keep it. This, I begin to realize, is a deadly truth. Now that I fear an abatement of Jim's love—for the present, at least. But of my own love for Jim!

No—love is the wrong word there. I love Jim with an abating intensity. But my admiration—I guess admiration's the word—my admiration for Jim is getting some severe blows. You can't know people until you've lived with them.

Now, that letter from Eric Sands! Jim brought it up again, as I knew he would.

"Answered your soldier's letter yet?" said he suddenly at dinner.

"No," I answered quietly. "I thought you might answer it to gether."

Eric will be interested to know I'm married. And he'd appreciate a friendly word from you under the circumstances."

Jim has a new way of snapping out his sentences when he's irritated, and I don't like it one bit.

"Why, the circumstances that surround him—the dreary army training camp. In a few weeks he'll be somewhere in France, or maybe in the horrible, bloody Dardanelles. I couldn't repress a shudder."

"Or maybe dead, Jim. Any poor chap on his way to war must hunger for a few friendly words; that is, any chap who thinks, who doesn't simply march forth to war drunk with a false idea of glory and patriotism."

"Oh, ho!" cried Jim, his fork paused halfway to his lips. "He has one stout little champion in America, anyway. And there old wifely gets all those highbrow ideas about false glory and patriotism?"

"All women are for peace," I teased. "But you do it, won't you Jimmie?"

"Wait, of all the nerve!" Jim swallowed his forkful of salad with absent-minded deliberation.

"Why nerve?" Let's get into the habit of doing things together, of making all our interests mutual."

"I think I prefer not to splash about in my wife's old love affairs."

"Jim!" I exclaimed more to feel myself business. I was inclined to remain amiable, although Jim's tone was decidedly acid.

"Well, come now, Ann, I'll put the question straight to you. Was there no touch of romance in your friendship with the young Englishman?"

I hesitated for an instant. Unluckily, just long enough for Jim to understand.

He made one of those gestures, half scorn, half triumph, as if to say, "There! I knew it. You have a past."

It is a strange thing that when a man is engaged to you he is proud to know you have other admirers. When you are his wife, the bare idea that you have been interested in other men before him angers him jealously.

I smiled blandly and poured the coffee. It seemed to annoy my husband that I showed no agitation. I knew he was curious to hear more about Eric, yet hated to ask.

"Well, I suppose it's your own affair, lady," he jerked, between puffs on a cigar he was lighting. "If you want, I'll tell you what I think of you."

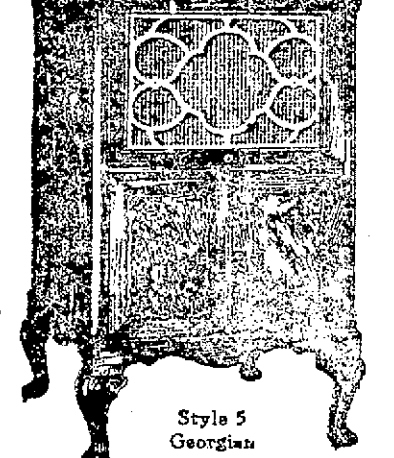

"You are jumping at conclusions, dear," I answered, unconcernedly. "And that is well childish. If by 'love affairs' you mean an acquaintance between two young people who had some very good, and perfectly innocent, times together, I plead guilty."

"A woman never lets go of a man who has once cared for her," Jim picked up his hat and, with this sage aphorism, departed hence, probably to his club.

Now, what does a woman do in such a case?"

The CHENEY PHONOGRAPH

Style 5 Georgian

Invented by a Music Master for His Pupils

DETERMINED that the limitations of the phonograph should not prevent his music pupils from learning the details of tone-shading of the masters, Forest Cheney evolved the instrument which today bears his name.

By combining the fundamental principles of the violin and pipe organ, he achieved new heights in the science of tone reproduction.

Tones become rich and full. The serene purity of the reproduction is comparable only to the original production.

That is the story of the invention of the Cheney—it's romance is in keeping with the wonderful progress it represents.

Cheney cabinets are made by the master furniture craftsmen of the country. In refinement and beauty they are matched only by the artistry hidden within.

1. Cheney Reproducing—a series of concentric walls which separate and focus the sound waves. "Blare" and "Needle" scratch are eliminated.
2. Cheney Tone Arm—where tones are amplified and reflected from flat surfaces. Noise vibrations are muted.
3. Cheney Throat—where sounds are gathered and controlled as in a living throat.
4. Cheney Orchestral Chambers—which amplify tones still further and add quality and sweetness to them. All tones preserved in perfect balance.
5. Cheney Violin Resonator—carved from silver spruce and maple. It adds richness to Cheney tones and all the serene purity of the violin.

These features are covered by basic patents and are found only in Cheney Phonographs.

The Real Solution to the High Price of Fuel

The fuel problem must be solved. Fuel this year is not only high in price and going higher—but IS SCARCE—and we cannot meet the situation by simply digging a little deeper into our pockets.

We must use LESS FUEL—so there may be enough to go around.

Yet we must keep warm. We must protect our families with well-heated homes. We must not let colds and influenza become rampant again this winter.

The practical answer to fuel economy—and in a large measure to winter-health—is the

ORIGINAL PATENTED PIPELESS FURNACE

The Caloric saves from 1/3 to 1/2 the fuel. This is not guess work but an established record—fully proven in over 76,000 buildings where the Caloric is in use.

Caloric heat is circulated heat—constant change of air. Therefore Caloric heat is always pure and healthful. Why should anyone endure close, stuffy rooms when they can have pure, healthful Caloric heat at LESS COST?

The Caloric is sold on the fair and square basis of guaranteed satisfaction—the broadest guarantee ever made in the heating industry. Why should any buyer of a furnace take chances with experiments when he can buy the Caloric on this definite guaranteed basis?

The Caloric is the Pioneer and Leader of Pipeless Heating, and embodies basic patents which are essential to efficient pipeless heating and which imitators dare not copy. The man who buys a Caloric gets advantage of these patents, and can have advantage of them in no other way.

Call, phone or write for further details of the Caloric—the heating system that gives you the most heat, in most convenient form at least cost.

PENNSYLVANIA HAS BIG REPRESENTATION IN WORLD'S SERIES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Pennsylvania has the distinction of having the greatest representation in the baseball classic this year. Ten players from that state will battle for the highest honors in baseball, four of them are members of the Chicago White Sox, American league pennant winners, and six are members of the Cincinnati Reds, flag winners in the senior organization.

White Sox manager, William Glendon, heads the list of Quakers. Along with the fighting manager is Eddie Collins, one of the greatest hardians of the boys' game. The team also includes pitcher, utility outfielder and pinch hitter deluxe, and J. Frankie Mayer, side-arm pitcher, are the other members from Pennsylvania.

The Reds have two pitchers, Ray E. Bressler and Ed. Gerner, an outfielder, S. E. Morgan, a catcher, Jacob Daubert, first base; Morris Ruth, second base; and James L. Smith, third base, as members from Penn State.

Seven from Illinois.

Illinois, where one end of the premier event will be staged, is next in the list. The Prairie state is represented by seven players, six of whom are members of the White Sox, and one is on the payroll of the Reds. Three of the White Sox live in Chicago. They are Sullivan, Weaver and Gandell. Ray C. Schaefer, said by most critics to be the "greatest catcher of them all," heads the list from Illinois for the White Sox. Along with him is the utility infielder, Byrd Lynn. Then there is the peppy George Weaver, known to fans all over the country as "Buck." He will be on the Chicago payroll.

Arnold Candell, alias "Chick," guardian of the initial sack, and Grover Loudermilk, the elongated right-handed pitcher, and John "Big Boy" Cantello, a former Chicago semi-professional twirler, make up the others. H. C. Eiler, who one time was on the Cincinnati payroll, is the only member from the state of Abraham Lincoln and Ulysses S. Grant, on the Cincinnati roster, and "Eddie" as he is known, is one of the Red Sox's leading twirlers.

Ohio, where the other end of the world's series will be played, is next in the list of contributing states. It lays claim to four members. The Buckeye state quartet consists of the catcher, Henry Grob, star third baseman and Earle Neale, outfielder of Cincinnati, and Harry F. "Slim" Salles, pitcher, and Henry W. Schaefer, utility infielder.

Rutcher is Californian.

California is represented in the "big" world's series by three of its players, being members of the American league club and one of the National league aggregation. The Pacific coast state, which with the Glendon outfit are Joseph Jenkins, catcher, a former lieutenant in the United States army overseas; Charles A. Risher, class "swede" of the strong arm shortstop; and Fred McMillan, utility infielder. William H. Ruetheer, former member of the Chicago National, and now one of the "aces" on the Red's pitching staff, is the other member from the Golden Gate state.

Michigan and Indiana will be represented by three members each. The Gopher state delegation is solid for the White Sox, while the Hoosiers go strong for the Red Sox. Each of these states is the home of stars. Michigan is the home of Ed. W. L. Ciolek, knuckle and "shine" artist, and leading ace on the White Sox pitching staff. Harry Leibold, alias "Little Nemo," diminutive outfielder, and Bill James, the first 44-inch pitcher, also hail from Michigan, this state also having the distinction of furnishing the tallest and shortest player to the American league pennant winners. In Toledo, and indeed, the former being 5 feet, 5 inches, Eddie Roush, one time a member of the Chicago club, and now the slugging outfielder of the Reds; Lewin B. Duncan, another outfielder, and William A. Burdett, formerly a catcher of the New York Giants, are the Roosters on the Garry Hermann payroll.

Kerr from Texas.

Two states have contributed two members each. These are Texas and Massachusetts, which go "fluffy," by sending one member each to the White Sox and the Reds. (Richard Kerr (diminutive Dick), game left handed pitcher, is the Lone Star state representative on "club" of the White Sox. Fred Mitchell, also a mound artist, is the Texas member of the Reds. Massachusetts has produced two veterans of the game. The Red Sox have the pitcher, John "Shano" Collins, outfielder, member of the White Sox for the past ten years, represents the juniors' organization.

Urban "Red" Faber, who was a star for the White Sox in the world's series against the New York Giants in 1917, is the Iowa representative in the premier event.

Three southern states will be represented in the series—Georgia, Kentucky and South Carolina. The first named state contributes one member each to the Reds and the White Sox. Irv B. Wingo, first string catcher for the Reds, makes his home in Georgia, while Claude Williams, leading southpaw of the American league, represents that state on "oniskey's" club. "General" Joe Jackson, hard hitting outfielder of the White Sox, hails from

BASEBALL GROWING OLD

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Sept. 24.—With the coming of the world's series, baseball takes a paramount place in the thoughts of many persons. The word "baseball" as a designation for the national pastime, came into existence in the thirteenth of the last century, according to historians, and is the evolution of the name "round-ball," which later became "town-ball," because the game was played at town meetings.

There are two schools of thought on the origin of the game of baseball. Some claim that the game is evolution of the old English game of "rounders," while others claim in their writings that the sport is of strictly American origin. Writers of the first group say the game of "rounders" can be traced to the Netherlands, and in turn to Egypt, even going so far as to suggest that the English "may have been the first umpire."

Those who favor the idea that the game originated with Americans, by the majority, however, and to Alexander J. Cartwright, a New York man, then credit the origin of the game as now played is given by many writers.

Played "One-Old-Cat."

In 1842, it is written, Cartwright broiled up a game of "one-old-cat," which a gang of New York boys were playing on the Murray Hill grounds, and with a stick scratched a diamond in the dust, telling the boys this was the game they should play and suggesting a player for each base, three "scouts" in the outfield, pitcher and a catcher. In the early days, when the game resembled cricket, and any ball hit by the batter was "fair," the catcher had a secret to assist him.

The game as suggested by Cartwright, took form quickly and on September 23, 1846, the Knickerbocker club in New York was formed, having the honor of being the first baseball club, according to historical writers of the game. The first contest of the new game was played between the Knickerbocker club and another New York team on the Elysian fields, Hoboken, N. J. The New York team won 23 to 9.

The first tabulated score ever kept of the game, historical record, was that printed by the New York Clipper July 16, 1859. The contest was played on July 5 of that year between the Knickerbocker and Gotham teams.

No Fusses Issued.

In the early days runs were called "aces" and a team had to make 21 to have enough to win. Rule one of the early set of rules, copies of which have been preserved, says that all players "must be punctual and observe the time for the commencement of the game. This precaution was necessary because in those days no bases on balls were possible and it was not uncommon for the pitcher to throw for half an hour before the batter decided to strike.

Very few changes in the basic principles of the game as set forth

RED BON WINS IN SUNSET FINISH

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Sept. 24.—Due to a slow drying track on Tuesday, the three day grand circuit races scheduled were started, the other two going over as part of today's card. An attempt was made to finish the 2:00 class trot, the 2:15 class trot, and the 2:17 class pace, but so many different heat winners developed that in only two, the 2:15 trot and the 2:00 trot, were the winners.

Tommy Direct won the first heat. In the second mile he fled in the stretch, Red Bon coming on to win and take the 2:15 class trot.

Red Bon won the 2:00 trot in $2 mutuel. Red Bon tired the third heat while Oscar Watts won. At sunset they went at it again and Red Bon won the 2:17 class pace.

In the 2:17 pace, Dan J., an impressive winner last week, did not seem to like the heavy track. He lost to two to one favorite in the auctions but failed to win a heat, until in the third.

Abbo Bond beat him a nose the first trip while Plucky Dillard won from him the second heat. This race went over until tomorrow.

Stake events and the unfinished pace is on for Wednesday.

You feed Grain in Winter

Why not Now?

Silage and roughage used for winter feeding are better than most pasturage. The average pasture is never balanced, never uniform throughout the season—protein being the element most lacking. Thousands of dairymen have proved that this shortage is perfectly replaced by

Purina Cow Chow

Every 100 lbs. of Cow Chow contains 14 lbs. of protein, 85% of which is available. This makes it possible to balance this cow's gross ration under all conditions and obtain an average of

6 lbs. more milk per day per cow

—at an additional cost of about 6c per cow—a clear profit of about 10c per cow per day, or over $3.00 per month. Let your own cows tell you more about it. Test it yourself.

Sold in Checkerboard Bags Only

Shooting Service You Can Depend On

IN MODERN efficiency there is no trusting on luck. Preparations are made for the worst of it. And this quite simply is why so many modern minded shooters choose a Remington UMC gun and shells, so well known to be dependable for best service under all conditions.

Of the many examples of Remington UMC leadership in service to shooters, the most recent that benefits the hunter of small game is the wonderful Waterproof improvement in shot shells. The most important development in shot shell manufacture in a decade, this exclusive Remington UMC improvement for the first time completely seals the shell against wet. Regardless what happens, your Remington UMC Waterproof "Arrow" or "Nitro Club" smokeless or "New Club" black powder shot shells can not be injured by wet. Even if exposed to it for hours, they will not soak through.

bulge, broom out, mush or seuff. In body, crimp (or turn-over) and top wad they will remain as firm and perfect as when fresh loaded at the factory.

Work them through your modern Remington auto-loading or pump gun and they will slide just as smoothly, fire just as surely and give the same top speed, superior pattern and penetration.

Over 82,700 modern minded sporting goods and hardware dealers in the United States sell Remington UMC—another example of best service to shooters.

The ROMANCE of TRUE STORIES of SUCCESSFUL WOMEN

EDITH MORIARTY

At the end of the second year she was handling all of the household department.

call any of her time her own except her Wednesday afternoons, and she was always doing some kind of work she did not like, and the worst part of that was that she did not know how to do anything else. After casting about in her mind she finally decided that instead of leaving her place at the Conways to him, for some new kind of work she would keep on working there, where she was sure of room and board, and then start school again.

The cook and some of Helen's friends laughed at her. To them it seemed farcical for a second girl, 12 years old at that, to start to business school. Helen was determined, however, and she drew some of her savings out of the bank to pay her first three months' tuition. She found the school work hard and especially after a day of housework it was not easy to concentrate upon dots and dashes and spelling. In fact it was so difficult for her that it took her a year and a half to master both shorthand and typing while the household department and here again her 12 years spent doing housework were of inestimable value. In fact had she taken a college course and specialized in housework she would not have been as well trained for her work as she had been by her 12 years of actual experience. She was earning $30 a week and had written several special articles for the paper on various subjects, some of which were purely for entertainment or amusement. Had anyone even mentioned writing an article for a newspaper to her two years before she would have wondered what they were talking about.

Today she has increased her editorial duties until she handles almost the entire woman's page on the large daily paper for which she started out as an office girl. She has written special articles for two years and aside from her special work she is now earning $40 a week. She is not a wonderful writer, but she is a wonderful worker and even though her newspaper friends might not call her a success, there is no doubt but that she is prosperous when compared with the friends of her servant-girl days, and far more contented.

Legion Named After Dead. Marinette—The local post of the American Legion was adopted the name of "Teddy Budlong Post," in honor of the memory of the first Marinette county soldier to make the supreme sacrifice. Theodore Budlong, son of C. A. Budlong, inspector for the state board of control and former assemblyman, was fatally wounded while fighting with the U. S. marines in the battle that stopped the onrush of the Germans toward Paris. A brother, Corporal Alva Budlong, was twice wounded while fighting with the thirty-second, and in the Argonne, after being badly wounded, was taken prisoner by the Germans. A third brother, Vincent Budlong, was in the motor corps.

Cheese Maker Convicted. Sheboygan—H. M. Scott, farmer of Waldo, was found guilty by a circuit court jury of violating the state law by manufacturing cheese containing more than 40 percent moisture. The case was one of the most interesting ever heard in this city. Hundreds of farmers filled the courtroom during the course of the trial.

THE WISHING PLANE

WILLIS WINTER

"When the tourist had been pulled safely to the top of the cliff by his friends," went on Widow Ann, "Mr. Aar called to the men to lower the rope again for him. When the end of the rope reached him he tied it about his waist and told the man to start pulling him up to the top of the cliff. They had hauled him up only a few feet when one of the men called down. 'The rope is pulling in two where the ice cut it.'"

"He could see the threads of the rope sticking out where they had broken in two. He knew that the rope wouldn't hold until it reached the top. He was sure, too, that if the rope broke suddenly the men would fall back quickly, lose their footing on the ice and probably slide down over the cliff. So he called to them to lower him down to the edge again. 'Untying the rope from his body, he told the men to pull it up, cut out the weak places and tie it together again. He stood still and waited. A minute later there was a great cracking and the edge of ice on which he was standing broke off on the side of the cliff and dropped—dropped hundreds of feet. The jar when that tourist hit the ledge must have cracked the ice. The tourists were rescued. They tied their coats to their Alpine sticks and waved their coats until someone saw the signals and sent a rescue party."

"Lamar and four other guides climbed down into the crevasse and got Mr. Aar's body and carried it home for me."

Dick and Jane had heard so many sad stories of lost fathers, mothers and children since they arrived in Europe that the Widow Ann's story made them believe more than ever that Make Believe town was a pretty good place in which to live. It seemed as if most children had both their papas and mammas there.

"What's way over on the other side of the Alps?" asked Jane one day of Widow Ann.

"Italy," answered Widow Ann. "If you should climb way over to that last mountain peak you see beyond the meadows and then climb down the other side of it you would be in Italy."

"Do folks live the same way, have the same kind of farms and raise the same things there?" asked Jane, not to be outdone when it came to asking questions.

"No," said the Swiss lady. "You'd find them growing tons and tons of grapes or raising silk worms."

"Silk worms!" exclaimed both the children at once.

"Yes, the little worms from which beautiful silk is made."

"Oh, I'd like to see them!" said Jack and Jane.

"Well, I guess you will," said Captain Brave, who had been listening. "Ladydear and I have decided we'd better be leaving Switzerland if we want to get around the world before your little folks are grown up. And you've decided to see Italy next because it's near."

So, when the children crawled into bed at Widow Ann's that night, they found it hard to fall asleep, so busy were their thoughts about the new country and what it must be like.

EVERYBODY STRIKES BUT MOTHER?

I thought when we had won the war that Peace would reign supreme. It seems that battles are not over, An Peace is but a dream. For everybody's out on strike, With work no one will mix, And Tony, Isaac, Joe and Mike Are little bolsheviks!

The ice man finds his price too low, The butcher's not content; The baker says he wants more dough, The landlord wants more rent; The coalman's always crying "More!" Our cook has learned to shirk; The plumber strikes whenever he likes.

Nobody wants to work; The janitor wants more each week Or they will turn off the heat. My father's out of work, and so is brother.

They haven't had enough of war, Why even baby cries for MORE! Why is it everybody strikes but mother?

TAIL GRASS REFLECTIONS. Nothing will cheer up a homesick man more than to tell him he has character in his face. There is nobody luckier than the fellow who never had a hankering to go into politics. Everything has a use in this world. A wart on the end of a man's nose keeps his spectacles from slipping off.

There are other signs of aristocracy just as potent as wearing white shoes and tight pants. Every fellow who goes away and makes good surprises the home folks. Every man can make a profit excepting in his own country. If the vice president would only look after the vice, he would have plenty to do in this country. There is no certainly changing back in the sixties men used to wear red flannel shirts and woolen socks all summer.

Reformers are bent on stopping the Fifth Avenue buses. The reform should be looked upon by ministers and justices of the peace as a combination in restraint of trade.

Will not the hat check boy please go on strike?

If any man wears a hat bonnet after this date, shoot it on the spot.

Schools Cause Tax Rise

Neenah—Increased expense in maintaining the public schools of this city are given as the main cause for the high tax rate which will be in effect here this year. City officials estimate that a tax levy of 25 mills will be necessary, as against a 19 mill rate last year.

When Lafayette shaved in America

WHEN Lafayette put aside the pomp and ruffles of the French Court, and became a fighter for your liberty and mine, he brought with him his beautifully chased set of razors.

As a soldier, he realized the part they would play in keeping him fit. But after he was wounded at Brandywine, the young general found it was not so easy to shave unaided, for in spite of their sweetness of balance and true French temper, his razors lacked the common sense element of safety. What Lafayette needed was the double-edged, detachable, guarded blade of the Actual photograph of truck owned by Ward Bros. completely equipped with Goodyear Solid Tires which have gone 30,000 miles thus far

Tires Still Going After 30,000 Miles, Report Ward Brothers

"Our truck is equipped with a set of Goodyear Solid Tires that have given us about 30,000 miles of continuous service, and they have worn down exceptionally evenly, which is not very often experienced on a truck which negotiates so many poor roads and gets into so many bad places as our truck is compelled to enter."

"We are fortunate enough to have a Goodyear Service Station in this city equipped with a press for pressing on truck tires and they do their work in a very speedy and highly satisfactory manner. This service station has offered to press on tires for us over night or on Sunday and therefore not cause us to lay up our truck for the need of new truck tire equipment."

—Ward Brothers

THE next time you see the Ward Bros.' truck take notice of its Goodyear Solid equipment. If you are a truck owner you will be interested to know that these tires have traveled 30,000 miles and are still going. Note how evenly the tires have worn.

Let the appearance of these still capable truck tires remind you of similar cases where Goodyears have reached high scores through reason of their inbuilt strength plus the protective attention of a Goodyear Truck Tire Service Station.

Of course, mileage records like this are rarely obtained except where this combination exists—and it is our function as a Goodyear Truck Tire Service Station not only to supply Goodyear Truck

Tires but to help you obtain the utmost mileage from them in your hauling.

Our first service to a truck owner concerns his selection of the size and type of Goodyear Truck Tire particularly fitted for his special hauling conditions. It has been the common experience that such careful selection of Goodyear Truck Tires—Solid, Cushion or Pneumatic, as conditions dictate—results in a reduction of trucking costs.

In total, ours is a service of "Before, Of and After Application"—briefly, a service which begins before you adopt Goodyear Truck Tires and that does not end throughout your employment of them.

May we explain it thoroughly to you?
